- Citizen Review Board Members

As a result of widely publicized use of force and deadly force incidents across the country, 2015 - 2016 has been a challenging year for law enforcement. If your department were to come under the level of scrutiny we have seen this past year, would your use of force related policies, training, and operations hold up under the spotlight? The Use of Force Summit focuses on identifying proper legal and operational standards for use of force incidents, including the development of standard police practices for the use of force and force related policies. This past year, we have seen a great deal of analysis, instruction, and recommendations on the use of force policy, training, and investigation. We have much to discuss, including the policy, training and operational implications imposed by the Presidents Task Force for 21st Century Policing, the PERF 30 Recommendations, and the DOJ Agreements in Albuquerque, Cleveland, and Newark. This is a discussion you cannot afford to miss. The Use of Force Summit will focus on enhancing the effectiveness, operations, and management of the use of force incidents. Training will review the policy standards, legal interpretations, and consent decree standards that make up liability protection standards. Training will include force investigation standards, use of video, development of training, and the documentation of use of force incidents.

Summit topics include:

- Current Legal Standards Regarding Use of Force
- 2015-2016 Supreme Court Rulings
- Department of Justice Oversight on Use of Force Standards
- DOJ Agreements in Albuquerque, Cleveland, and Newark
- Recommendations of Force Principles
- Implementing Procedural Justice into Use of Force
- Challenges on Using Video During Force Investigations
- Developing Force Investigation Units, Policy, and Operations
- Training 4th Amendment Use of Force
- Body-Camera standards and Force Investigations
- The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly with Electronic Control Weapons
- Biomechanical Aspects of Use of Force Encounters
- Investigating and Documenting Use of Force for Liability Protection
